Benchmark indices

Benchmark indices have been defined for each asset class within the portfolio, which enables the calculation of a global index for each investment strategy. The quarterly performance of the R-Gestion portfolio is compared to the performance of this.

The guide below shows the different indices per asset class for each investment strategy.

The benchmark indices may be the same for several investment strategies, but the allocation varies depending on the strategy. A plan describing the measures taken in case of a substantial revision or cessation of an index is constantly updated.
